LA BELLE RUSSE AT WALLACK'S. The first performance of "La Belle Russe" was given last night at Wolfsch's Theatre, and was seen with deep interest and many manifestations of sympathy and admiration by a large and brillint and truly representative audience. The piece is, apparently, an adaptation from a sensational French novel. It belongs to z class of works that had great popularity here about twenty years agoclass well denoted by "Pauline" and "Heary Dunbar." Its basis is a set of highly distorted circumstances, and it opens with an exceedingly weak act; but its situations, as the action proceeds, become strong, and several of its dramatic incidents are startling. The heroine resembles the beautiful poisoner in "Monte Cristo," and the dramatic scheme somewhat reminds the observer of that of "The New Magdalen." The workmanship is often cumbrous, and the speeches are needlessly long and sometimes fangled. The strong resemblance that the piece bears to "Forget-Me-Not" suggests that both may have had a common origin; but the latter is a much more sharply and more clearly cut production. "La Belle Russe," however, contains a most interesting exposition of monstrous feminine wickedness, and opens a fertile field of reflection as to the infatuation that may be caused by love and carnal beauty; and, furthermore, it suggests to the moralist the curious spectacle of hellish depravity stumbling among its own self-justifica-The success last might was mainly gained by the acting of Miss Rose Coghlan, which was very brilliant. But of this we must find another time to speak. The personation was lacking in the precision that will come hereafter, and in the art of elecution But it was a powerful manifestation of nature. The to tone in the earlier part of act second will be much improved by substitution of composure and icy glitter for breathless and spiteful pugnacity. Miss Coshlan was loudly applicated and several times recalled. Mr. Tearle and Mr. Gerald Eyre acted with admirable discretion, and Mr. Gilbert and Madam Ponisi carried two slender charactrs with their accustomed case. "La Belle Russe" will undoubtedly have a career, and Miss Coghlan is determined to win valuable Lureis in its representation.

THE WIDOW.

A new comic opera, entitled "The Widow," was given last evening at the Standard Theatre, and scored a given last evening at the Standard Theatre, and scored a fair success. Calixa Lavallee, of Boston, is the composer thereof, and Frank Nelson has furnished the libratio. The opera tells the story of a complication rather eleverally contrived and developed with some humor but little artistic skill. The missic, which at several points is evidently written to burners the stilled movement of grand cuers, was stilted movement of grand opera, was neither brilliant nor original, but contained some pleasing numbers. The east introduced two old faes in English opera, to-wit, Mrs. Seguin, Mr. William Castle. Mrs. Seguin was received with much affectionate kinduess, and responded by a performance that revealed a great deal of her old charm of voice and manner. Mr. Castle's voice bears every evidence of the long and hard usage which it has undoubtedly received. Mr. James G. Peakes is to be credited with a notably ex-James to reason the presentation. The rest of the cast displayed various degrees of excellence. The chorus was was large, prettily costumed and fairly well drilled. The setting of the open on the stage was neither attractive nor appropriate.

CONCERT FOR THE ITALIAN SCHOOLS. A concert for the benefit of the Italian ols in this city was given at Steinway Hall hast evening an ier the auspices of Signer Campanini. The audience was large and very appreciative. Signor Cam panini had the assistance of Mile. Rossini, Mile. Betlini, ne Imogene Brown, Mme. Galassi, Mmo. Lablache, Mile Juch, Signor Candidus, Signor Galassi, Signor Tag-Hapletra, Signor Corsini, a chorus and an orchestra of sixty pieces, directed by Signori Moderati and East pieces, directed by Signori Moderati and Rasori. The programme consisted mainly of operatic selections, the largest numbers being the sexter from "Lucia," and the finale from "Ernani." Signor Campanini was in excellent voice and sang his two colos, of in the in seno from "Forza del Destino" and Saire dimora from "Fanst," in his usual effective style. The other singers also did admirably and frequently aroused the audience to a ligh ritch of enthusiasm. The chorus sang well; and the orchostra acquitted itself creditably.

THE PROFESSOR.

W. H. Gillette's comedy, "The Professor," was revived last evening at Haverly's Fourteenth Street Theatre by the Madison Square Theatre Company. The guidence was large and received the play and the players in a kindly spirit. The drama is by no means new to the public of this city, having been performed for a con-Alderable dime at the Madison Square Theatre last summor. Its salient points consist principally of the humorous situations which arise from the promisenous lovemaking of a professor of astronomy among the young ladies of a boarding school. The plot upon which these situations are hung does not aspine to any great depth or intensity of interest. Mr. Gilbette, the author, appeared in his original character of the Professor of the play. His humor is not of the most striking kind. Mass Belle Juckson enacted the part of Daisy Brown, "a child of the woods," and by her innocence of all art fully met the requirements of the role. siderable dime at the Madison Square Theatre last sum-

CINDERELLA AT SCHOOL.

The clever little musical comedy "Cinderella at School," by Mr. Woolson Morse, which won such long continued favor at Daly's Theatre last season, was presented at Booth's Theatre last evening before a large and enthusiastic audience. The slight thread of story which runs through it is borrowed from Robertson's "School," and is managed with much dainty cleverness. The movement never flags. The music, if not of a high character, is still tuneful and pleasing. The opera was rendered last evening by E. E. Rice's Comic Opera Company. The sirging and acting on the part of principals and shorus were generally good. The opera wardinarily costumed and well put on the stage.

OPERA AT THE ACADEMY.

A special performance of opera will be given by Charles Mapleson at the Academy of Music to-morrow evening. "Il Trovatore" is the work chosen, and the principal parts will be filled by Signor Campanini, Signor Galassi, Mme. Lablache

RETURN OF FANNY DAVENPORT.

Miss Davenport appeared at the Grand Opera House last night, and represented Lady Tearle, in "The School for Scandal." That performance will be repeated this evening. On Wednesday and Thursday Miss Daven port will enact Leah ; on Friday and Saturday Lady Gery Spanker and Nancy; at the Saturday matinee, Pauline in "The Lady of Lyons." Her engagement closes with the week

The attendance at the Grand Opera House last night was large, and Miss Davenport was warmly welcomed. Her performance of Lady Tearle is strictly in accordance with the accepted Abinaton tradition of the stage—she presents the fine lady, and her assumption of an arti-betal manner, her mischlevons—sport, her light-hearted heod, and her raillery are skilful and brightly effective. Mr. Charles Fisher personated Sir Peter Tearts.

EUGENIE LEGRAND AS CAMILLE. At the Union Square Theatre last night Miss

Engenie Legrand appeared as Camille in the well-known drama of that name. The opportunities afforded by this piece and this character are not now to be rehearsed. Miss Legrand used them with the skill of a trained artist, and in such a way as to interest and impress a cousid crable andience. Her Camille is of the refined order, and has mouraful beauty. Miss M. D'Anrini acted with crace and piquant effect as Nichette.

RETURN OF LOTTA.

Lotta made her appearance last evening at the Windsor Theatre in the well-known character of Muscle, before a large audience. The reception given to her was hearty, and she was called before the curtain after each set. The principal characters in the play were taken by P. Acq. Anderson, II. it. Bradshaw, Mrs. G. C. Boniface and Florence Nobic.

THE LOCAL STAGE.

As the dramatic season approaches its closeor, rather, its transition from the regular period to the summer period—there is a ratting fire of incidents, all round the compass. The cidef event of the present week is the performance of a new piece at Wallack's Theatre, where the melodrama of "Youth" received, Saturday evening, its final representation. This is mamed "La Beile Russe, and it has aircady been acted, with suc cess, in Sun Francisco. But, ando from this, several other interesting features will cann the attention of the playgoer. Miss Fanny Davenpert, who is soon to salt for England for England, appears at the Grand Opera House, and will there fulfil a farewell engagement Miss Lotta, the merry and mischievous romp of the stage, makes her resutrance here, at the Windsor Thestre. Miss selina Dolare, returning to the Eijon Theatre sets in "The First Night" and "A Lesson in Love and this should prove a charming performance. Mr. stetson, at Booth's Theatre, brings forward the Bicc Surprise Party in "Cinderella at School," Miss Eugenie Legrand, at the Union Square Theatre, personates Camille, the play of "Bolange" being laid aside for the present. Across the river, at Haverly's Brooklyn The-Arc, Miss Lilian Cloott, a beginner in the dramatic pro-teedon, appears as Julief, and subsequently will represent Parthenia and Bulwer's Pauline. Mr. Jacob Gesche is her manager. Mr. Emmett, moving from the Grand Opera House to Niblo's Theatre, comes forth as Pritz in Ireland. "The Professor," which has been seen here before, is offered at Haverly's Theatre in Fourteenth-st. English opera is given at the Germania Theatre. Repetitions occur of "After the Opera" at the Park Theatre, "Girouetts" at Daiy's Theatre, "All at Sea" at the Opera House of the S. F. Minstrels, and "Squatter Soverdarity" at the Theatre Comique. The customary exhibition of curiosities may be seen at Bunnell's Museum.

DIVORCONS.

Victorin Sardou's comedy of "Divorcons" was presented at Haverly's Fifth Avenue Theatre last evening by Maurice Grau's French Opera Company. The play has been presented in this city in German and in English, and if it is less coarse when played in its original innguage it was certainly no less immoral. The character and that of Des Prunciles by M. Mezieres. The mounting of the piece was good and the whole presentation was well received. The audience was composed mostly of French people and was of fair size, notwithstanding the raim. of Cypricane was admirably acted by Mile. Paola Mari

Mr. Frederick Paulding is also a mem her of Miss Davenport's company. To-morrow af-ternoon Miss Davenport gives a performance for the benefit of the Actors' Fund.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert, Pateman, who have rendered such efficient support to Edwin Booth during his eason just ended, will act with him in London and throughout his subsequent tour of the British provinces.

After that a dramatic company is to be formed, with Mrs. Paleman as its star, to make a tour of Great Britain and eventually to revisit America.

A writer in one of the Western newspapers lately aired his learning by ridiculing Mr. Booth's reading of "the innobled queen," instead of "the mobiled queen," in "Hamlet," and Barry Suilivan's reading of "a siege of troubles," instead of "a sea of troubles." These readings were selected for satirical condemnation as "new," and as the fantastic innovations of the actors. It is always well to have laughter in the right place. As a matter of fact "inobled" is the reading of the first Folio (1625)—which it should always be remembered was prepared by Shakospeare's personal friends and fellow-players, Heminge and Candell—while "slege" was one of the profered emendations of no less a man than Pope. We do not think "slege" either as expressive or as poetic as "sea"; but Mr. Sullivan has this authority for it, and, furthermore, he has the example authority for it, and, in thermore, he has the example of Edwin Porrest, who often used it and who likewise when he read from the play, adopted the old reading of "the dead wast," instead of "the dead waste," spoken by Horatto. The reading of "innobied queen," as used by Mr. Booth, has a fine poetic and profound meaning—for it shows that Hamlet is broading over his mother's shame, and that the player's reference to Hecuba has suddenly struck upon this hidden chord of raid. To reache, "mobbled queen," seems only a sort grief. To recebe "mobiled queen" seems only a sort of verbal criticism—which is all that, in either case, is recognized by the sapient Polonius.

GRADUATES OF THE UNION SEMINARY.

In the Madison Square Presbyterian Church last night thirty-two graduates of the Union Theological Seminary received their diplomas. Several of them have already been licensed, and three of them were ordained on Sunday night. More than haif of the class will become missionaries either at home or abroad. Persia, Stam, China, Mexico, South America and the Western States are the places to which some of them will go at once, while the rest will wait until fall. The address last night was delivered by the Rev. Dr. Charles Hawley, a graduate of the Seminary in 1344. He spoke on the urgent necessity of giving to the ministry the most liberal education possible.

A brief valedictory address to the graduating class was given by the Rev. Dr. Hitchcook, president of the seminary, who said: "The ten days following the ascen sion of the Saviour were days of uncertainty. One handred and twenty persons in Jerusalem waiting for something to happen-they hardly knew what. At last Pentecost flamed out of the trackless sky and the Christian Church was born. BEARING THE REMAINS HOME. DUBLIN, May 8 .- The remains of Lord Frederick Cavendish were conveyed on a gun carriage from the Viceregal Lodge to the North Wall wharf this evening, and placed on board an ordinary steamer for transportation to England. A detach ment of dragoons accompanied the remains to the wharf as an escort, and all along the route the pro-cession was received with evidences of sympathy by immense crowds.

OPINIONS IN CANADA.

OTTAWA, May 8 .- The assassination at Dublin is the all-engaging theme of conversation in the House lobbies to-day. The utmost abhorrence of the foul deed is everywhere expressed. So much, indeed, is this the case that members have been heard to express their regret at taking part in the passage of the Irish resolutions. Some think it will be a deadly blow at the Gladstone Government, while others say the Irish people should now hasten to his support, and express the hope that this terrible tragedy may not turn him aside from his policy of remedial legislation.

MONTREAL, May 8 .- The excitement to-day in onnection with the Dublin tragedy is more intense than it was yesterday, when the news was less generally known. The murder is generally attributed to irish-Americans, who were sent over, it is thought, for the purpose. The current of the popular verdict denounces the crime as the most cowardly and vile ever committed in Ireland.

TORONTO, May S.—The Globe says of the assassina-on of Lord Frederick Cavendish and Under-tion of Lord Frederick Cavendish and Under-Secretary Burke:

There is no reason to doubt that the motive of the deed was a political one. Personal malice is not to be thought of, or both would not have failen viettins to the assussins. There can be very little doubt but that this blow, as did the foul murder of Thomas Darcy Medice, comes from some of the desperados who clusier around the Fenian organization. The talk of the reasonable. There is reason to hope that should deed will haid rather than hinder his work. It will, we trust, make all classes of Irisamen realize the danger of incling to breaches of Irisamen realize the danger of meiting to breaches of the law, and the necessity of arranging the existing differences between landlord and temant in a peacenble way.

The Matt says:

It is impossible that the cause of Ireland shall not suffer for this crime. It is one of a long series of such crimes committed in the course of the past year by men engaged in the work of robbery and riot, not for but against the interests of Ireland. The men who did this deed will, we trust, be captured. Every honest man in Ireland is interested in their capture.

ACTION OF THE SPANISH SENATE. Madrid, May 9.-To-day's session of the Senate was a stormy one. The first cause of the Treaty of Commerce with France was adopted by a vote of 143 to 85. Subsequently by 111 to 24, the Senate voted urgency for the whole treaty. There will be a second ballot on the question of urgency to-morrow, as the standing orders require 157 votes before urgency can be

WHAT THE FENIAN CROWE SAYS. PEORIA, Ill., May S .- Patrick Crowe, who creted a great sensation some time ago by fathering the scheme to blow up British vessels with infernal machines, says that so far as England is concerned the assassin's knife has been her weapon for years, and in this instance she has only been paid back in her own com. He is of the opinion, however, that the attack was aimed at Burke and not at his superior. Burke was the Under Secretary of the Government at the time of the Fenian troubles, and made himself thoroughly obnoxious to that class, He was a bitter and malignant enemy of the Irish race, and was detested as much by it as was Lord Castlereagh, a former Secretary. He had been lost sight of in recent troubles, but he had been as bitterly denounced by the Feniaus as was Mr. Forster by the Land Leaguers. On account of this old score, mainly, and by Fenians, he is convinced, he had been hurried out of existence, it becoming necessary also for the assassins to kill Lord Frederick Cavendish to protect themselves, since the two were together. Then again, an additional cause may exist in the events attending the release of cause may exist in the events attending the resease of Parnell and his colleagues. When he was released it was distinctly understood that an effort would be made to crush out the secret societies, which are the strength of Ireland. If Parnell entered into a compact with the Government to withdraw his No-Rent manifesto, leaving the latter free to suppress the societies, of which there are two, the LandLeague and the Nationalists or Feniaus, among the latter especially, the dissatisfaction at Burke's among the latter especially, the dissatisfaction at Burke's appointment would be greatly increased. These societies in no way affiliate, and the Fenians believe that, should the Land League meet with success, the tenant larmers would be separated from their party, to the injury of the interests of the country.

Crowe refused to entertain the idea that the bloody work was done by the land League or in its interests. He believes the event marked a new era for Ireland, and that the effects would be somewhat similar to those at the time of the assassination of the Governor of India, which caused England to loosen the screws upon that country. England is afraid of assassination, and he would not be surprized if it ultimately caused the Giadstone Administration to be driven from power. It argurs well for Ireland, because now the officers of the Government will find it advisable to adopt measures of safety, and in riding through the streets surrounded by guards, they will virtually admit that they are not the actual rulers of Ireland.

ACTION OF THE NEW-YORK ASSEMBLY. ALBANY, May 8 .- At the close of the session of the Assembly this evening, Mr. Murphy offered the following:

Whereas, In common with all civilized people, the citizens of this State have been greatly shocked at the news of the assassination of Lord Frederick Cavendish and Mr. Burke in the City of Dublin, Ireland; therefore, Be if resolved. That the Legislature of the State of New-York records its detectation of the crime, its belief for so that only private revenge could be responsible for so terrible an act, and its nope that the guilty parties may be brought to a speesly and just punishment. The resolution was unanimously adopted.

ACTION OF BOSTON IRISHMEN. Boston, May S .- The Irishmen of this city will meet in Fancuil Hall to-morrow evening to express their detestation of the assessinations in Dublin. Today John Boyle O'Reilly and Patrick A. Collins sent the following dispatch to Mr. Parnell:

A reward of $5,000 (£1,000) is hereby offered by the frishmen of Boston for the apprehension of the murderers, or any of them, of Lord Frederick Cavendish and Mr. Burke on Saturday, May 6.

EXPRESSIONS OF FEELING IN THIS CITY. Pierrepont Edwards, British Consul at this port, nformed a TRIBUNE reporter last night that he had received instructions from Mr. West, the British Minister at Washington, to offer a reward for any information that would lead to the discovery of the murderers of Lord Frederick Cavendish and Under-Secretary Burke. The amount of the reward, Mr.

Edwards said, will depend upon the value of the information given. The president of the Irish National Land League of New-York and the Parnell Land League last night forwarded the following to Mr. Parneil:

In behalf of the Land Leagues of New-York we repudiate the covert and atroclous assessinations of Lord Frederick Cavennish and Mr. Burke. W. B. WALLACE, M. D.
M. D. GALLAGUER.

The assassination of Lord Frederick Cavendish and Under Secretary Burke was the prominent topic of conversation around the City Hall yesterday. The opinion was generally expressed that the deed was a most unfortunate one for ireland, as it would greatly embarrass Mr. Gladstone in his efforts to secure peace in the island, and harsh measures would be very likely to follow. President Sauer said: "I think it a very unfortunate affair in every way, and one that will have a bad effect on the peace policy which the Liberal party had just inaugurated. No one, no matter what his postical sympathies may be, can fail to deplore and consympathies may be, can rail to deplore and condemn such an entrage as this."

The County Committee of the County Democracy at their meeting last evening mammously adopted resolutions declaring that they "heartily unite with our Irish-born feilow-citizens in the universal expression of abhorence and detestation with which they have received the news of the cowardily assassimation of Lord Frederick Cavendish and Under Secretary Burke"; and expressing the hope that the brutal and means act of four raffiams of unknown nationality will in no way change or retard the noble and conclinatory course recently mapped out and entered upon by Fremier Gladstone. Colonel John R. Fellows seconded the resolution and paid a tribute to Fresident Lincoln, declaring that when he was stricken down the South lost its best friend.
He trusted that England would emulate the example set by the victorions North in its treatment of the South after the clash of arms had ceased.

PENNSYLVANIA REPUBLICANS.

BEFORE THE STATE CONVENTION-RUMOR AND GOS-

SIP AT HARRISBURG. HARRISBRG, Penn., May 8.-The hotels are already crowded with politicians, but there are few who are more than of local importance. The topics most dis-cussed are Wolfe's position and the fight against Rawle. It is now said that Wolfe will not be a candidate before the leouvention at all, but that he will wait until Beaver shall have been elected and mangurated and will then be rewarded by being appointed Attorney-General of the State. McManes, of Philadelphia, has been here all day, and is as full of fight against Rawle as ever Secretary Quay was asked what he thought of the outlook, and replied: "Things look tolerably safe for Beaver, and that's about all I can give in confidence tonight. So far as anything can be certain at a political convention, things' are certainly safe for Beaver. It is altogether unlikely that any other name will be present ed in connection with the Governorship, except to give Butler and possibly Wickersham the compliment of a small first ballot vote." For the Lieutentant-Governorship Senator Davis, of Bradford, is in the lead. On the Judgeship everything is at sixes and sevens.

It is difficult to see how Rawle can get the nomination as there are no solid delegations for him, while the opposition to him, originating in his own home, affects every part of the State. The Alleghe ny delegation wants Brown, but while the Philadelphia delegates, under the leadership of McManes, are anxious to prevent flawle's nomination, it is said they are not willing to let the nomination go to any but a Philadelphian, with Judge Tanyer as their favorite. Little, of Huntingdon, is endeavoring to popularize a movement to compromise upon ex-Attorney-General MacVerch for the place. For the Secretaryship of Internal Affairs Greer, of Buttler, is apparently in the lead, but this is one of the lights surrounded with the most uncertainty. Samuel B. Dick, of Crawford, is the only man new mentioned as a strong candidate for Congress. as there are no solid delegations for him, while the opman new mentioned as a strong candidate for Communationer. The indications are that there should intense and Common men here to make the vention lively despite any compromise that may while be put forth.

CONDITION OF THE NEW CAPITOL.

JBY TRLEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE. ALBANY, May 8.-The Assemblymen for several weeks past have one after another been gazing intently at the stone roof of the Assembly Chamber. Here and there, it was evident, stones had become displaced, and across the face of some of them cracks could be discovered. The general apprehension at last caused the Committee on Ways and Means to appoint a subcommittee to learn the actual condition of the Assembly Chamber. The committee consists of Messrs. Benedict, Erwin and Robb, sists of Messra. Benedict, Erwin and Robb. The committee have now been engaged in taking testimeny for a week on the subject of the investigation. Mr. Eastlitz, the architect, has testified that he believes the room to be absointely safe. Mr. Eaton, the superintendent of the new Capitol, also was confident that the room cound not cave in. Mr. Singerhead, a civil engineer, who has been taking levels in toe building, said that he was unwilling to testify that the room was in a safe condition. To-day Mr. Benedict, in company with Mr. Scott, of Livingstone, has been carefully inspecting the ceiting with a fine opera giass. Mr. Scott at the close of the examination said: "I am not an alarmist, but I do think the room is in a condition perious to human life, and if abould be a member here next year I should move that the seasons be noted in the old Assembly Chamber in the old Capitol."

RESOLUTIONS PASSED BY DEMOCRATS.

The County Democracy General Committee held its first meeting last evening in its new quarters, No. I Union Square. All the prominent members were present. A resolution was passed censuring Dock Com-missioner Vanderpoel for voting to displace John R. Voorhis, a life-long Democrat, from the presidency of that Department, and replacing him with a Republican. A member wished to know when Commissioner Vander-poel became a Democrat. Chairman Develin said that was a compadrum he could not answer. A resolution was adopted, calling attention to the fact that the Demo cratic members of the Legislature have firmly adhered to the platform adopted by the last Democratic State Convention, and resisted the efforts of the followers of Governor Cornell and John Kelley to place the Anti-Governor Cornell and John Kelley to place the AntiMonopoly cause in the keeping of a tomopoly Governor.
It was further resolved that the anti-monopoly issue is of vital importance to the public welfare, and it is hoped that by fidelity and persistcince the Democratic members of the Legislature, aided by Lonest Republicans, may be able to secure such notion as will place railread corporations within the effective control and regulation of a commission chosen by the direct action of the people.

Colonel John R. Fellows then addressed the meeting at length on the subject of anti-monopoly and other oriporations should be controlled by legislation and not destroyed. Another resolution commending Perry Belmont for his action in the Peruvian Investigation was adopted.

FAREWELL TO THE REV. DR. BEVAN.

A large andience of Welshmen met last right in the Welsh Presbyterian Church, No. 225 East Thirteenth-st. to bid farewell to the Rev.Dr. Llewellyn D. Bevan, late of the Brick Church, previous to his de-parture for England to-morrow. The Manhattan Chocal nion, a chair of some fifty voices, sang several times in the evening. The Rev. Griffith H. Humphry, the pastor of the church, paid a high tribute to the scholarly attainments of Dr. Bevan. A series of resolutions, signed by the principal Welsh organizations in this city, expressing regret that Dr. Revan was to leave the city, were unanimously adopted. A copy of them was prosented to Dr. Bevan by Dr. Reborts in a humorous speech.

Dr. Hevan in replying spoke of an interview with him published several weeks ago which had attracted a good deal of attention. "At the request of the reporter." Dr. Bevan and, "I made a comparison between Englishmen and Americans. The reporter stated that the difference in hat and characteristics was my reason for returning. He ce d my remarks a trile, and the editors, who though here was material for a leader, distorted them still more. Words cannot express the treatment I have received at the bands of the editors of the religious press, I have nothing to say derogators to the Americas people rouly feel it is my duty to return to London, and therefore shall do so."

Dr. William E. Jones, of Brookiya, read, an original published several weeks ago which had attracted a good fore shall do so."

Dr. William E. Jones, of Brooklyn, read an original poem, and the Rev. 6. G. Davis and the Rev. E. E. Hughes made short addresses, the former speaking in

ARTISTS EXHIBITED COMMERCIALLY.

The first of a series of "Evenings with Artists, an artistic and musical exhibition on the plan of the in dustrial fairs," was inflicted upon a hundred or more people in Madison Square Garden last night. In the centre of the Garden there was a raised platform, around the outer edge of which extended a circle of red pots containing a few house plants with an occasio red blossom. Within this floral ring, at each end of the platform, stood a half-dozen "artists," painting, drawplatform, stood a half-tozen "artists," painting, drawing and modelling. Between the two groups of "artists," the band of the 5th United States Artiflery sat. The band played, the drawers drew, the painters painted, the modellers moueried and the crowd stood around and smiled. The pictures and figures grew with marvedous rapidity. When dinished the pictures were all ready to be hing in the window of a second-rate painter of photographs, and the figures needed only to be "biomacd" to be ready for the Italian pedier and his basketful of Court, in a carefully prepared opinion by the Chief Justice deciding that the court martial had full jurisdiction to try Mason for the offence charged, that its proceedings were all within its proper jurisdiction, and that the sentence proneunced was not in access of its power. The petition for a writ of habeas corpus is therefore danied and the rule to show cause discharged.

This "City of Elms," which Mr. Hubbard has appropriately called the "Pearl of New-England," contains 800 manufacturing establishments in active operation, and for this and all other business purposes is most fortunately situated. Within two hours of New-York, twenty trains a day cach way, five hours of Philadelphia and Boston, there is no spot which is so easy of access. Among its manufacturers there is none more deserving of mention than Henry Killam & Co., who make a specialty of the finest class of family carriages. They use the highest grade of material and labor, and a grent saving can be made by ordering direct from this old established house. Their productions consist entirely of landaus, landaulets, conches, coupes and broughans of the latest styles, and are unsurpassed in beauty and elecance in all their appointments by anything in the whole world.
